

Highfields Retreat Woodland Walks

The woodland is over 30 acres and benefits from a huge variety and combination of walks.

In the denser areas in the middle it consists predominantly of Pine and Spruce tress whereas the outer edges are full of native broadleaf trees and mature hedgerows, a great home for the birds.

We are now working with the Forestry Commission's guidance to restore and regenerate the woodland, encouraging more light to enter through the canopy above.

This will provide new habitats for greater diversity. We hope to see a lot more butterflies and diversity of ground vegetation as we progress.

The woodland is without doubt a long-term and ongoing project. Our customers are already enjoying its features and continually comment upon the improvements we are making. It's great when everybody shares a common interest and we begin to see the fruits of our labour as the wildlife and its habitats establishing themselves amongst the trees.

Our latest woodland project has been the exciting installation of our purpose built wildlife observatory and feeding stations.

This welcome addition to the park allows our holiday home owners and guests a rare chance to sit amongst a multitude of wild birds & mammals and to observe their antics and rituals in a safe, comfortable and natural environment.
